AWARDS CEREMONY

JUNIORS

Wow—what an impressive bunch of Minnesota middle schoolers we had at Nationals this year! They took home all five of Minnesota’s medals, and having an additional three finalists. These hard working young scholars impressed the judges with their wide range of topics from Wayne Wheeler, the Indian New Deal, to the Ford Dagenham Strike. Coming from all across the state, we can’t say enough about how impressed we were with this batch of kids. The future is looking bright for these young historians!

SENIORS

Not to be outdone by their Junior Division counterparts, the Senior Division students came with experience and projects of which to be proud. Four of these Senior projects made the Final Round. Projects on topics such as Jonas Salk, Allen Ginsberg, the Boxer Rebellion, and the Willmar 8 wowed the judges. The Senior delegation also brought camaraderie and leadership to the Minnesota team... so much so that we couldn't be more honored to nod, and say "yeah, they're with us!" Congrats to all of our Seniors, we can't wait to see what exciting things your future holds!

SUPPORT SQUAD

You might get sick of us saying this, but we'll say it again: History Day would NOT be possible without the support from parents, teachers, mentors, and the community. From providing rides to libraries, proofreading paragraphs, late-night performance rehearsals, and multiple documentary screenings, these people not only helped with your project in a physical sense, but also showed emotional support. Without them, History Day would be so much harder. Here's two thumbs up for the support squad! #squadgoals

DRAMA CLUB

What does it take to be a performer? Confidence, poise, creativity, and talent? All of our drama club members have that and way more! Our 2017 performance crew wowed crowds all over the University of Maryland campus with productions on the Poison Squad, Jack Rajala, Phyllis Schlafly, Betty Friedan, and much more. These performances were so full of knowledge and insight that we didn't want to blink for fear of missing something. We see Hollywood historians in all of our performers. Way to go, Drama Club!

A-V CLUB

Being a member of the A/V club is not for the faint of heart. Not only do you have to write a script after a ton of research, but you also have to deal with shudder technology. Our kids showed the computer who is boss and made documentaries that would rival any Hollywood filmmaker. We watched amazing cinematic masterpieces on topics ranging from Lin Zexu, Temple Grandin, White Earth Anishinaabeg, Norman Borlaug, and more! August Butterworth and the Parkview Center group of Audrey Faricy, Sruthi Subramanian, and Sebastian Helgeson each took home a bronze medal for their efforts! Congrats to all of our future documentarians!

SHOP CLASS

This year, the shop class kids were challenged to take their board designs to the next level. Taking their already great content, these construction experts took their knowledge of glue, foam core, lighting, and double-sided tape, and created their History Day masterpieces. Aliyah Hamlin took home a bronze medal for her project on Loving v. Virginia while KateLynn Dorschner earned 7th and an Outstanding State entry for her project on the Black Panther Party. Other projects included John Muir, Don Haskins, Hazelden, and more. Congrats you crafty, construction kids!

WEBSITE SQUAD

Our website squad rolled into Nationals feeling relief that they didn't need to transport a board, props, or worry about technology. All that hard work paid off for Sam Skinner and his website on Korematsu v. United States, he earned 5th place and an Outstanding State entry. Other websites included the Stonewall Riots, the Denver Principles, Lise Meitner and so much more. These website techies played it so cool and really impressed the judges—awesome (town) job!

YOUNG WRITERS WORKSHOP

This year's paper writers took out their quills and made some magic happen with their final products! Isabella Krueger showed the archives who was boss with her paper on Jane Hodgson, and Erin Boehme earned 5th place for her project on Rachel Carson. Our Junior Papers earned the elusive "Double Minne" at the Awards ceremony with Grace Philippon taking home silver for her Rachel Carson paper, and Ingrid Mundt getting gold for her paper on Margaret Sanger. What an impressive bunch of paper writers this year—look for their writings in a Barnes and Noble near you when they're older. Great work!
